

Effie Mitsopoulou

Effie has been advising employers for more than 30 years on all aspects of contentious and non-contentious employment law, including data privacy related issues.

She has handled a wide spectrum of complex employment matters, including inter alia business restructurings, cross-border transactions, redundancy plans, termination of employment and post-employment restrictions, executives' contracts and separation arrangements, independent contractors' issues, new forms of employment etc.

Effie has also advised many leading multinationals on privacy related matters, whistleblowing schemes and monitoring issues, focusing on employees' personal data. She is well-versed in the challenges relating to the lawful management of data and supports clients before the Greek Data Protection Authority.

Ranked several times as a highly recommended Leading Lawyer in employment law by Chambers Europe and Legal 500, Effie has been recognized by clients and peers as a "household name for employment law" in Greece (Chambers Europe 2019).

She has published numerous articles on employment law issues and has participated as a speaker on employment law and data protection conferences both in Greece and abroad.

Effie is a member of the International Bar Association, the European Employment Lawyers' Association (EELA) and the Editorial Board of the EELC Review (European Employment Law Cases).

She is a graduate of the University of Aix- Marseille (Maîtrise en Droit International 1982), King's College, University of London, (LLM 1983) and was admitted to the Athens Bar Association in 1986.

Prior to founding lawspace, Effie was a Partner and Head of the Employment and Data Protection law practice at a leading business law firm in Athens and has also worked at the Legal Department of the National Bank of Greece.

Effie is fluent in Greek, English and French.